Dedication

Man's distinguishing deeds are the fruit of his mind, but the hand is the agent of the brain in all of these works. In ages when physical strength ruled the world, the hand was the symbol of power, and even now clasped hands are the sign of friendship and trust. Since the symbolism of the hand is manifested in so many familiar ways, we have chosen the hand as the theme of this year's annual.

For the last two score and one years, a firm and kindly guiding hand has molded the character and directed the thought of our student body. The staff, therefore, in appreciation of his tireless friendship and trust, wishes to dedicate this 1957 Rainbow to

J. C. A. CLASS POEM

There are those who have inspired us to higher aims of knowledge
And to deeper understanding of the rudiments of college.
The professors, as we strive pushing onward
to our goal,
Shall we carry in our memory as long as to life we hold.
There are friends who have helped us share
the joys of college days
And the problems of a higher learning and the challenge of its ways.
May we all remember how we planned on bigger things ahead.
And may these hopes and dreams of ours find fruition in their stead.
So may the hand of college friendship reach across the years, to heaven.
This the wish of our class, the Class of '57.

a generous race—
No tenth transmitter of a foolish face."

J. C. A. Prophecy

"Good afternoon, ladies and gentlemen. This is Cameron Edwards welcoming you to Space. Today our program is originating from the roof of the old Richmond Academy. The Junior College Class of '57 is staging its class reunion. I assure you it is going to be a spectacular event. We are taking an excursion to the satellite, Moon in a new device built for Space by the famed scientist and JCA alumni, Marvin Jenkins. This ship, called the "Speed-O-Space" guarantees to get you to the moon in five minutes—a little slow, but the class wants to enjoy the scenery. Here are some members going aboard now. I see the famed Universal Opera star, Carole Little, among them. Let's go interview her. "Good afternoon, Miss Little. I'm Cameron Edwards of Space. Would you mind telling our viewers a little about your road tour coming up?"

I'd be happy to, Cameron. First, we'll tour the Moon—I'm staying over there today—then the planet, Mars. I also think we'll take a side trip to Saturn. It promises to be quite an interesting celestial tour."

"I'm sure it will be, Miss Little. Isn't that Marian Adkins, the earth-bound star, over there. I hear her movies put Venus to shame."

"I believe it is, Cameron. I must go over and speak to her. The last time we had a reunion she was late and I missed her."

"Give her my regards. I think our cameras are on the brilliant director of Milky Way fame, Anne Weibel. She's talking to some of her old classmates whose names are all familiar to you. There's John Marshall Drew, Earth's Ambassador to the United Planets; Gail Vansant and Janice Whitlaw, spacevision greats; David Toole, winner of this galaxy's prize for the advancement of golftronics; and Silas Pittman, winner of another galaxy peace award. By Jupiter! I think I see those men-about-the-universe, Louis Christman and Virgil Merritt. Those sylsh gentlemen seem to be creating quite a sensation among the others with their star-studded, varicolored moon-togs. That equally colorful personality well known to Space audiences, Camilla Paschal, is talking to them. These three people are perhaps the best-dressed in the Universe. Christman's opinion on which is better to buy, ventilated or insulated Zip-Suits for space travel, is that it depends on which way you're going—up or down. Now the cameras are on Nancy Ford, gifted mathematician who recently worked out Einstein's Theory of Relativity, and she also has proved John Drew's Theory of Escapetivity. Paul Rufo, the physician who discovered the stardust vaccine for stricken lovers, is talking to her. Well, it looks like talley-ho time again. Barbara Simpson, World's entry into the Celestial Beauty Contest, is climbing aboard, and Rosalind Zucker, Secretary of Universe, is giving the signal for the take-off. Well, folks, I guess this entertaining afternoon's visit with some of the Universe's most illustrious people will have to end. Happy landings all."

J. C. A. Last Will and Testament

WE, THE GRADUATING CLASS OF 1957,
do hereby leave:

I. I, Bob Crawford, do hereby bequeath to next year's physics class my unequaled ability to make stupid errors in hopes that they can do a better job of overcoming it than I.

II. I, Carey Johnson, do hereby bequeath to Mr. Talley my unused text book and lab manual in hopes that he will study up on his physics.

III. I, Court Guerin, do hereby bequeath to Larry Walker my seat in the library in hopes that he may spend more time in it than I did.

IV. I, Gordon M. Brack, do leave to Betty Adkinson and Martha Ann Wiggins my ability to pass psychology in hopes that we will some day be able to psychoanalyze each other.

V. I, Gloria Barton, being of sound mind, do hereby bequeath to Barbara Watkins my chemistry book in hopes that she can understand it better than I.

VI. I, John Marshall Drew, do hereby bequeath to Ducky Wall my ability to be thrown out of the library in hopes that he may have better luck in staying out than I.

VII. I, Lewis Sullivan, do hereby bequeath to Joe Stevens my art of bumming cigarettes in hopes that he may not die of lung cancer.

VIII. I, Walter J. Culbreth, do hereby leave to Professor Talley a used physics book; to Miss Bailey my ability to keep quiet in the library.

IX. I, Camilla Paschal, do hereby bequeath to Ann Fields my aptitude for having a boyfriend attend JCA.

X. I, Walter Moody, being of sound mind and body, do hereby will and bequeath to anyone crazy enough to accept it, two years of hard work, sweat, blood, and tears; and I bequeath to Janice Whitlaw and Gail Vansant my long, curly hair.

XI. I, Rosalind Zucker, being of unsound mind, do hereby leave nothing, because I need all I have and then some.

XII. I, Anne Wiebel, in company with Nancy McGinty, Silas Pittman, and Edward Keel, do hereby bequeath Mr. Read's room during vacant periods to future members of our Theosophical Society.

XIII. I, Marian Adkins, do will and bequeath to Toni Hammack the ability to be tardy and absent almost every day and still manage to get by.

XIV. I, Pete Garland, do bestow upon Ricky Wilkinson my ability to pass second year accounting in hopes that some day we may be C. P. A. partners.

XV. I, Marvin Vernon Jenkins, do hereby leave to some unsuspecting physics student my ability to make 104 on one of Mr. Talley's tests.

XVI. I, Nancy Ford, do will and bequeath to all the Frosh that are members of the Zeta Rho Sigma a box of baking powder so that they may rise to be swell Sophs.

XVII. We, Barbara Hammett, Katherine Gardner, and Connie Currie, do will and bequeath to Toni Hammack our ability to drive a certain English teacher crazy.

XVIII. We, Nancy Ivester and David Toole, being old and tired of it all do just plain leave THE RAINBOW! NOW—

Signed, sealed and delivered by this class of 1957 to be its last will and testament.

CLASS POEM

Back in '55 we walked through Richmond's doors
 Into this world of knowledge, into the "extra-curricular";
 At first we wandered aimlessly o'er these floors
 And went nowhere much nor in particular,
 ——— Enjoying a dream attained.
 Outstretched arms welcomed us to this domain,
 The gracious hands of teachers led us ever;
 Hopeful that our minds might another summit gain.
 They inspired us in all that we'd endeavor
 ——— Giving us the further dream of college!
 Some of us have learned of science, some a theme;
 One to type or take dictation;
 Another learned to cook a meal or sew a seam.
 And others found a soldier has to take direction.
 ——— Fighting always toward a dream.
 Now inwardly we can "give three cheers"
 That we here finish without succumbing to a coma.
 We studied, struggled, through these two engrossing years
 Until at last a hand holds out a coveted diploma,
 ——— Seeing an ideal become a fulfilled dream.
 Yet, "More to conquer", we say with sorrowed heart,
 As on to Destiny's great goal we slowly, surely travel;
 And as we prepare from many friends to part,
 We know the greater Hand our problems can unravel;
 ——— Describing for us a greater dream.
 How great, how joyous, how worthwhile these days have been
 The silent empty halls now seem to sigh;
 But never again may our class play and work here within.
 No worldly goods could ever these days buy.
 Lead us, O God, until there is no sky.

A. R. C. Last Will and Testament

We, THE GRADUATING CLASS OF RICHMOND ACADEMY, 1957, being of no mind at all and of definitely large and long-sounded body, do hereby declare this to be our last will and testament:

- ITEM I—I, Luther Shead, do hereby bequeath to Richmond Academy my full appreciation for all it has done for me, in hopes that the school may have much success in the future.
- ITEM II—I, Jeanette Sox, do hereby bequeath to all the students of A. R. C. after me, my love for Richmond.
- ITEM III—I, Patricia Davis, do hereby leave to any Junior, my interested in the Girls' drill platoon, in hopes that she will carry it on next year.
- ITEM IV—I, Edward Howard, do hereby will to the future best drilled cadet my Drill medal in hopes that he might try to live up to the standards of such an honor.
- ITEM V—I, David Patterson, do just leave (I hope) the rattles in my car plus the lack of brakes.
- ITEM VI—I, Charles Tant, have decided that I need everything I have; I won't leave anything to anybody.
- ITEM VII—I, Oliver Owens, do hereby bequeath to Jack Fountain, my "Radar" set in hopes that he can "catch" more than I did.
- ITEM VIII—I, Betty Griffin, do hereby leave to Jane Cox my long eyelashes.
- ITEM IX—I, Jeanette Bodenhamer, do hereby will to the next head cheerleader my ability to always take the "gas" before the pep rallies in chapel.
- ITEM X—I, Roberta Cribb, do hereby bequeath to some ambitious girl, my place in front of the A. R. C. band.
- ITEM XI—I, Jack Fisher, do hereby leave to Doug Cox, my excess weight in hopes that he won't shrink up and blow away.
- ITEM XII—I, Bettie Jared, being of slick mind, do hereby bequeath to Martha Murphy, my ability to skip typing and still pass.
- ITEM XIII—I, Sara Stinchcomb, being of unsound mind, do hereby bequeath to any one of Mr. Robertson's Study Hall students my ability to attend meetings every day.
- ITEM XIV—I, Carol Brooks, do hereby will and bequeath to any "stupid" Junior, my place in detention hall.
- ITEM XV—I, Barbara Brown, do hereby leave to the Juniors, my privilege to sit in Mr. Moseley's room in hopes that he will let you go get his hot water.
- ITEM XVI—I, Gail Jackson, do hereby will to any deserving Junior girl, my bed in First Aid in hopes that she might hear as much gossip as I did.
- ITEM XVII—I, Edwin Beattie, being of weak mind, do leave to Joey Cheek, my knowledge of how to use an answer book in hopes that he may make a "success" of himself.
- ITEM XVIII—I, Eddie Anderson, being of intellectual brain, do hereby bequeath to Pat Hendrix, my ability to pass English.
- ITEM XIX—I, Ann Trowbridge, being of wrecked mind, do hereby will to Judy Tant, my ability to pass exams in hope that she may graduate one of these days.
- ITEM XX—I, Mary Helen McGinty, being of closed mind, do hereby leave to Joyce McElmurray my ability to keep a secret in hopes that she will have as much fun knowing about things as I do.
- ITEM XXI—I, Tommy Ashe, do hereby will to the '57 football team my logging axe in hopes that he might cut down the "Pine Tree" at Tallulah Falls one summer.
- ITEM XXII—I, Avis Rollins, do hereby bequeath to anyone that will claim them my Geometry grades.
- ITEM XXIII—I, Richard Brinkley, being of bowed legs, do hereby will to Dick McDaniel my Bermuda Shorts in hopes that his legs are cuter than mine.
- ITEM XXIV—I, Jack Tomlin, do hereby bequeath to "Coach" Bolton my track shoes in hopes that they will carry someone over 6 feet.
- ITEM XXV—We, Peggy Sutton, Brenda Mitchell, Glenda Williamson, Carol Brooks, Arlene Price, Ann Bennett, JoAnn Williamson, and Yvonne Brusher, do leave any group of gals that are big buddies, an economy size bottle of glue in hopes that they will stick together as long as we have.
- ITEM XXVI—I, Trisha Shackelford, being of "tired blood" do hereby bequeath to Mary Ann Oliphant, my "ability" never to gain a pound in hopes that she will never have to go on another diet.
- ITEM XXVII—We, Barbara Duncan and Alice Hagler, do hereby leave to any innocent rising senior our ability to suffer through Physics and make it, in hopes that we'll never have to do it again.
- ITEM XXVIII—I, Ginger Marks, do will to some fortunate junior, my ability to write a Spanish sentence on the board every day for Mr. Howard in hopes that he might get one right. (I didn't).
- ITEM XXIX—I, Flo Butler, being of "pudgy" body and battered brain do leave to Linda Epps and Ginger Hitchcock my "cuts" for the people whose names appear in the Gossip Column in hopes that they will have more friends left than I do.
- ITEM XXX—We, Corrilie Morris, Halley Boatwright, Lidle Swana, and Sally Hill do hereby bequeath to Ann Thompson, Lois Scales, Selly Maxwell, Esther Boatwright, and Kay Dienst our ability to keep up a lively conversation in Miss Braddy's room no matter how much she may interrupt, in hopes that they can keep it up and still survive.
- ITEM XXXI—I, Cecil Jackson, being of chemical brain, do will to Annette Deas my chemistry book in hopes that she might take up on page three where I left off.
- ITEM XXXII—I, Joyce Burris, do hereby leave to any upcoming basketball player my seat on the bench in hopes that she will keep it as warm as I have.
- ITEM XXXIII—I, Lila Jackson, do will and bequeath my skill of cutting lunch to go home and get my mail to Melinda Broome in hopes that she won't get caught.
- ITEM XXXIV—I, Barbara Best, do hereby leave to next year's cheerleaders my ability to lose my voice in hopes that they have the opportunity to cheer at another GEORGIA STATE CHAMPIONSHIP football game.
- ITEM XXXV—I, Virginia K'Burg, do hereby will to some sleepy junior my early morning walk to school in hopes that the fresh air will wake her for the following day of "concentrated" study.
- ITEM XXXVI—We, Ronnie Evans, Pat Dye, Finley Merry, Bill Force, and Tony Atkins do leave to the boys in the Junior class all the "Gators" at A. R. C., THANK GOODNESS!
- ITEM XXXVII—I, Jim Weigle, do will to Emil Bredeberg my T-square, compass, triangles, etc., in hopes that he may someday be able to draw a circle.
- ITEM XXXVIII—I, Barton Chambers, do hereby bequeath to Sgt. Johnson my thick head of hair in hopes that he will cease to be jealous of people with thick heads of hair.
- ITEM XXXIX—I, Gidays Hyatt, do hereby leave to all the teachers my sister, Nellie in hopes that they can educate her.
- ITEM XL—I, Bill Small, do hereby will to the football team, my football ticket stubs in hopes that they will make good confetti.
- ITEM XLI—I, Finley Merry, do hereby bequeath to James Temple the key to my den in hopes that he will "make out" better than I did.
- ITEM XLII—I, LuRuth Erion, being of questionable mind and peculiar judgment do bequeath to Barbara Brennecke my talkativeness in hopes that she may some day be a lawyer.

A. R. C. Last Will and Testament

ITEM XLIII—I, Don Tyre, do leave to Sylvia Carter all my A-pluses which I failed to receive in hopes that they will make her as happy as they would have made me.

ITEM XLIV—I, Larry Willige, do hereby will to Chippy Carmichael my quarterhack job with the A. R. C. football team in hopes that the team will win the STATE in '57.

ITEM XLV—I, Helen Newsome, do bequeath to someone interested and capable my position in the lunch room in hopes that she can get along with the boys at second lunch and hold her temper.

ITEM XLVI—I, Tony Atkins, do leave my spot in the hall to some ambitious Junior boy in hopes that he can look 'em over without being bothered by Mr. Markert.

ITEM XLVII—I, Gail Remley, being of true heart and love-struck mind, do will and bequeath to some lucky junior girl my ability to get an engagement ring in the middle of my senior year in hopes that she gets someone as wonderful as I did.

ITEM XLVIII—I, Nancy King; being of lonely, but faithful, heart, do will to Lynne Richardson my "tomb stone" in hopes that she will be just as "dead" as I was and like it.

ITEM XLIX—I, Mary Turley, because I have my "head in the clouds," do leave to Judy Wiggins all the short boys in hopes that she'll have more luck with them than I did.

ITEM L—I, Leila Goodwin and Carol Ann Jernigan, do hereby will and bequeath to anybody who wants them, our southern drawls in hopes that y'all will rid us of them.

ITEM LI—I, Helen Kelley, being of red face, do leave to any brave junior my duty of leading the songs in Christian Workers' Council in hopes that she won't be as embarrassed as I was.

ITEM LII—I, Terry Melton, do will to Wyane Merritt my four hours detention hall in hopes that he gets four more.

ITEM LIII—I, Brenda Mitchell, do leave to Joanne Williamson and Yvonne Brusher, my ability to be the last one in class and the first one out.

ITEM LIV—I, Carol Cunningham do leave to Mary Taylor—Larry Young—in hopes that she can keep him as long as I did.

ITEM LV—I, Preston Dye, do will to Richard Wren my rank in hopes that he won't have to carry a rifle next year.

ITEM LVI—I, Richard Lee's "Grey Corvet," being of weak battery and run-down motor, do leave to Rowland Powell's Chevrolet, my parking place on Russell Street.

ITEM LVII—I, Gum Yet Lou, do leave to Jerry Aris my rifle in hopes that he may drill off two hours at a time.

ITEM LVIII—I, Jeanette Loflin, do will to each junior girl who is not blessed with freckles one of these glorious spots.

ITEM LIX—I, Laure Bailie, do hereby bequeath to a warm-hearted rising senior girl my great ability to solve Chippy Carmichael's romance problems during lunch period.

ITEM LX—I, Carl Bogoslawsky, do hereby leave to Sammy Shapiro, my locker in hopes that he will clean it out.

ITEM LXI—I, Nancy Faulk, being of innocent brain, do hereby bequeath to any sneaky junior, my ability to sit in Algebra 45 and look intelligent.

ITEM LXII—I, Babara Graham, do will to Nancy Flowers my ability to evade Mr. Gallaway's home room period in hopes that she may have as much fun as I did.

ITEM LXIII—I, Bill Sally, being of worn shoes from drilling, do will to any R. O. T. C. junior my membership to the Sahre Club which I never attained in hopes that "Lady Luck" will smile on him.

ITEM LXIV—I, Evelyn Russell, do leave the craziness carried on between Jackie F., Betty A., Carol B., and myself to four crazy gals filling the lot next year in hopes that they can tell some funnies like we did.

ITEM LXV—I, Thomas Newmnan, do hereby leave to Jerry Wilson and C. I. Newton my five shares of stock in the SAD COMIC BOOK, INCORPORATED, in hopes that each will be prosperous always.

ITEM LXVI—I, Fred McBrayer, do will to the nonexistent files my old name, "Freddie" in hopes that no one will ever call me that again.

ITEM LXVII—I, Mimi Volpitto, do hereby will to Mary Ann Oliphant, my "sneeze" in hopes that she may be able to use it along with her laugh.

ITEM LXVIII—I, Robert Anderson, being of a "lame brain" and big eyes, do will to some "intelligent" Junior, my seat in Mr. Bolton's Algebra 45 class in hopes that he can see all the girls walking down the hall.

ITEM LXIX—I, Louise Pund, being of unsound mind, do leave to any girl looking for a beau, my convenient locker which very often contains football jackets and military hats in hopes that she will be more successful than I was in catching one of its users.

ITEM LXX—I, Pat Stillwell, being of a well-worn heart, do hereby bequeath to Susan von Unwerth my mixed-up love life in hopes that she can make a bigger mess than I.

ITEM LXXI—I, Sue McNorrill, hereby leave to Emily Stevens my place in the tennis tournament in hopes that she will go a little farther than I did.

ITEM LXXII—I, Rosemary Baird, being of a racked brain, do will to any French pupil my place at the blackboard in Miss Overstreet's third period class in hopes that he may correctly copy his homework upon it with fewer mistakes and less griping than I.

ITEM LXXIII—I, Charles B. Hughes, being of a frail frame, do bequeath to Joy Hughes my desk in hopes that she may fill it better than I did.

ITEM LXXIV—I, Fred Jennings, being very un-crafty, do leave to W. L. Ivey and Don Teasley my tools and bench in shop in hopes that they can learn to hit the nail on the head.

ITEM LXXV—I, Eunice Crawford, do hereby bequeath to Bobbie Lee Graham, my notebook with its Tech stickers in hopes that it will land for her an engineer.

ITEM LXXVI—I, Sandra Martin, being of trusting soul, do leave to Barbara Martin my rat proof locker.

ITEM LXXVII—I, Gail Bennett, do hereby bequeath to all upcoming Juniors my best wishes in hopes that every one of you has a successful senior year.

AND—We, the staff of the 1957 Rainbow, do leave to the students of Richmond Academy, this annual, of which we are most justly proud, and the memories that it holds for each of you, concerning the greatest school south of the Mason-Dixon line, or any other line.

Class Prophecy

Class of '57 Re-visits A. R. C.

Having just come in from the art gallery I entered the bomb shelter, our dear old beloved Richmond Academy, just before the bomb hit.

It seems like old times to me because the faces remind me of twenty years back when I was a senior. The first person I see is Halley Boatwright, who is running a features kindergarten for superlatives at the Graniteville Mills. She tells me of the success of some of our class mates such as Mont Miller, who is eight star general; Alex Lang, who has taken over General Mark Clark's position at The Citadel; Carol Ann Jernigan, who is reigning over her barony in McBean; and Pat Dye and Tommy Ashe, who are line coaches for the Atomic Red Skins.

Walking on down the hall I see Bill Force, who is still standing under the clock watching the girls go by. As we wait there talking, we hear a group who have just returned from the twenty-fifth anniversary of Young Life, now called Middle Life. The topic of conversation seems to be the "C. L." they caught while in Colorado on the convention. Among the group are Tony Atkins, Flo Butler, Finley Merry, Mimi Volpitto, Emory Williamson, Virginia K'Burg, Larry Willige, Mary Helen McGinty, Milner Lively, and Helen Kelley. Bill tells me that Buzzy McMillan and Shirley Cbeeley have become engaged for the tenth time.

As I walk on down the hall, I come to a room marked Medical Auxiliary, which is a club for doctors' wives, Laure Baillie—President. As I enter I see Nancy King helping the other nurses aids. Nancy married a top brass in the army. Dr. Barbara Flowers and Dr. Harry Harper are in charge of the group. These consist of Ruth Aldred, Betty Jean Anderson, Shirley Andrews, Rosemary Baird, Ann Braswell, Joyce Burris, Myra Cook, Nancy Jean Dunaway, Jewell Greene, Betty Griffin, Linda Hughes, Helen Jackson, Jacqueline Knight, Sue McNorrill, Joan Ray, Gail Remley, Rita Rhoden, Donna Richeleau, Anna Rufo, Jerri Saxon, Frances Sikes, Mary Taylor, Pat Wiebel, and Alice Wren, once members of Mrs. Stevens' Future Nurses Club. Wallis Stevens was a bit hacked to find that Future Nurses are really not baby sitters at all. Jacqueline Knight, still a Future Nurse, charges everybody $12.50 for everything. She got that way selling annual ads.

As I walk back down the hall toward the office, I see Pat Stillwell, who has taken over Mrs. Miller's job, typing a letter for Herbert Alewine, the president of the school. President Alewine has added several new departments: among these are Department of Safety, headed by Walter Wright to teach the modern youngsters how to charge through the hall on polo ponies.

Thinking about how no one had seemed to change much, I was almost knocked down by Jane Welch who said she had just received a letter from David. I asked Jane about Leila Goodwin and Sandra Munn and she said they were helping at Catholic High, another Bomb Shelter, where they were officers of the Mothers' Club.

As Jane was going to the Gym to see Ann Bee, the gym teacher, I decided to go along too. As we entered we heard Georgia Markert, President, Alewine's wife; Linda Williams, who was teaching gym at Langford, and Pat Waller, Murphey's instructor, talking about how we were gonna keep the building warm. I told them not to worry because I knew that Jeanette Bodenhamer in her new position would keep us well supplied with coal. As we were talking, Becky Hill, my long lost sister, who left to find a rich old husband so that she would soon be a rich young widow, Corrie Morris and Lidie Swan, who had both left with the same intentions, came in singing "They didn't make the one for me", a song recently recorded by Lu Ruth Erion, a popular Bop and Flop singer. Remember when rock and roll was rough?

After leaving the gym, I decided to go to the library. On the way I met Richard Magruder and Sam Maguire, who are Co-Presidents of Foxy Candy Company. They told me of Lamar Fleming, who had just married Marilyn, the Monroe's daughter. (This is his 5th time). As we were talking, Jimmy Smalley, who is a preacher, and Maxwell Vallotton, who had just returned from a hunting safari in Africa, South Georgia, joined us. They told us of Randy Strozier's and Johnny Reynolds' golf fame. They bagged two birdies, a buzzard and a crow; and have gone into the business of selling golf balls for atomic pump-gum shells.

On entering the library I was surprised to see Barbara Graham and Helen Henry, the librarians, watching our beloved governor, Ronnie Evans, who was speaking to the public as the guest of David Patterson on the "Patterson Hour." At the far end of the library, which has been made into a coffee lounge, in honor of Miss Baillie, Miss Hearn, Mr. Gallaway, Mr. Wise, Miss Overstreet and Mr. Cordle, I see Ginger Marks, Louise Pand and Martha Ringson, three of our town's most popular socialites, sipping coffee through three straws, so no one has to stop yapping in order to sip.

After talking for a while, I decided to go to the lunch room, where Otis Phillips is still punching milk. I was not surprised at all to see Mike Barns, a construction engineer, talking with Larry Willige, still president of the Wayne Richards Fan Club. Larry said Wayne shot one million points in his last game. He also said that Johnny Dowdy was a very successful business man and Walter Anderson was a successful dentist.

At one end of a long table I saw twenty children and right in the very middle were Barbara Best and Charles Moody. I was relieved to find out that half of the children belonged to Barbara Duncan who had gone to meet her husband, a baseball coach.

Upon leaving, I decided to go down to the old First Aid Room. I was happy to see the same gay faces. Lila Jackson, Leola Dunlap, Sandra Martin, Trisha Shackleford, Ann Trowbridge, Judy Hale, and Bettie Jared were all lying on the floor as the bed they used to relax on finally broke down. On the other side of the room were Gail Jackson and Rita Rhoden hanging out of the window looking at the effects of the explosion. We were so surprised to see that it wasn't a bomb at all—just Jack Fisher chasing Donnie Howard around the flag pole.

Permoted

(A poem dedicated to the A. R. C. Juniors and Sophomores)

Permoted myself from Junior Hi
And landed at A. R. C.
With a shout of freedom for myself
Richmond's the place for me!

Tho't I'd take a lil ole class
Or read a book or two—
And permote myself so-socially
Like my daddy used to do.

Stay all day in the lunch room,
Race around the hall
Flit and flirt with a jean or skirt;
Permote myself a ball.

Permoted myself to the office,
From there to detention class.
Got put on the board, kept after school;
Had to study my lessons to pass.

Tho't I'd skip an English lesson
And sleep it off in the clinic.
The President, the Dean, the Nurse and the Teacher
Convinced me there's nothing in it.

Permoted myself to the libery—
Started to open my peeper,
Got my teeth bashed in before I begin
By attack from a lady-creeper.

Took myself to the football game
Shouted me into a tizzy.
Stood up tall when we got the ball—
Plumb like to have had a hizzy.

Permoted myself to several clubs—
Got bounced out of three or four—
Managed to stay on the annual staff
By selling one ad or more.

Beginning to see I've got to work
To learn how to spell education,
'Cause Richmond Academy's a good ole joint
But it ain't no winter vacation!

Gee—I hope I get permoted!

FOOTBALL WRITEUPS

Dawn came early for the Richmond Academy Musketeers as a squad of 43 spirited grid-ders reported to the practice field at 6:30 A. M. The inexperienced players and a brand new coaching staff started the 1956 football season off with two weeks training at Athens' Y Camp, "Paradise of Youth," in Talullah Falls, Georgia. The Richmond Academy Musketeers surpassed their preseason status as a weak contender in the Region 2-AAA and went on to win the Sectional and Georgia State Championships.

ARC 9—Glynn 0

The Musketeers marched for a touchdown from the opening kick off and held on to the lead to defeat Glynn Academy. This was the first victory in the march to the Regional 2-AAA Crown. In the first quarter, speedster Tony Atkins turning left end danced a jig for ten yards through a host of Glynn Academy tacklers for the game's only touchdown. In the second half, when Glynn was booting from the end zone, the punter in an attempt to receive a high snap went out of bounds, and Richmond picked up insurance in form of an automatic safety.

ARC 14—Commercial 2

Richmond Academy took advantage of two fumbles in Commercial territory to defeat the Cobras 14-2. Tackle Charlie Broome fell on a Commercial fumble on the Cobras 20-yard line late in the first period to start the first touchdown march. The Musketeers recovered the second time a few minutes later on the Commercial 30 to set up the second score. Larry Willige scored both touchdowns while Bill Lanier converted the P.A.T.'s. A powerful Richmond running attack was spearheaded by the bull-like rushes of Fullback Bill Force. He lugged the ball 14 times for 78 yards. Late in the fourth period, Commercial got into the scoring column with a safety.

ARC 35—Coffee County 6

Tony Atkins started the Musketeers off with a 30-yard run in the first period. Bill Lanier kicked the extra point. Pat Dye blocked a fourth down kick in touchdown territory for another six points. Halfback, Al Butler scored from the 10 yard-line and the score stood at 19-0 at half time. The Comets pushed a drive down field for their first and only touchdown. Two more touchdowns by Butler and Bernard Williams respectively and a safety made the score Richmond 35, Coffee County 6 when the final whistle blew.

ARC 15—Benedictine 6

Bill Lanier, using his punts as a major weapon, sparked the Musketeers to a 15-6 decision over the highly favored Benedictine. This was tagged as the decisive game in the battle for the Region Championship. ARC got the Cadets from Savannah in a hole in the first period on a safety, matched touchdowns with the Irish in the second quarter, and iced the game with another score in the third. The running of Ray Grubbs and Bill Force set up the first Richmond score. Larry Willige's jump pass to Jack Fountain, who lateraled to Buzzy McMillan for a 39 yard gain, was the key play in the second drive. Willige's one-yard sneak climaxed the scoring.

ARC 8—Savannah 0

A pair of cat-like guards powered ARC over a big and dangerous Savannah High eleven. Tommy Ashe and Pat Dye paced the ever-hustling Musketeers all the way before a chilled crowd of some 3,000 people. These fans saw Richmond's defense literally tear the Jacket's offense apart on their goal line stance in the last period. Bill Force plunged through the visitors' defense for the game's only touchdown. A safety came in the third quarter when the Savannah center centered the ball out of the end zone. Ball carrying by Bernard Williams, Ronnie Evans, and Tony Atkins was a great asset to the game.

ARC 0—Catholic 0

A few lucky breaks and a costly fumble made it possible for the Irish to hold Richmond to a 0-0 tie. The Musketeers, having already cropped the Region 2-AAA championship, outplayed Catholic all the way. But that didn't count in the scoring column. During the half time Jeanette Bodenhamer was named "Homecoming Queen" by the ARC football team. After the Turkey Day classic, Tony Atkins was awarded the VFW Trophy for the game's outstanding player. Tony alone gained more than the whole Irish team.

ARC 14—Lanier 7

Richmond, keyed to a fever pitch, struck Lanier like the recoiling of a snake. Before Lanier could ever get used to the ARC field the Musketeers had run up a 14-0 lead in less than three minutes. The first touchdown came on the opening kickoff when Ronnie Evans fumbled on the five, and Tony Atkins scooped it up and like a bolt of lightning, streaked down the sideline for the score. Pat Dye assisted Atkins with two bone crushing blocks. After this, the game see-sawed back and forth until the third quarter when the Poets, after receiving the second half kickoff, drove all the way for the score and then hulled the extra point.

ARC 13—Northside 7

ARC combined hustle and desire to defeat the Northside Tiger for the Georgia State AAA Championship. The Tiger, noted as the "Best Prep Team Ever," and Richmond as a "TEAM CALLED DESIRE" clashed on a rain soaked field in a game as described by Georgia's head coach Wally Butts as the best high-school game that he had ever seen. The Cadets' defense brought the powerful high scoring Tiger offense to a standstill. Both ARC touchdowns came on long drives and for a climax, Willige sneaked both scores across. Bill Lanier missed the first but made the second extra point. The Tiger touchdown came on a long completed pass in the fourth quarter. Both teams kept the rain soaked fans of 5,000 in a daze with their spectacular performance. Richmond's offense was sparked by the fine ball handling of Larry Willige and the running of Ray Grubbs, Bill Force and Bernard Williams. The strong defensive standards were Paul Inglett, Pat Dye, Tommy Ashe, Milner Lively, and Charles Broome. This concluded Coach Inman's first year as head coach, and how much better could he have done than by winning the State Championship?

The Richmond Basketeers went into the Region 2-AAA Tournament with eighteen straight victories. They defeated Savannah High but lost to Benedictine thus capturing second place. On February 27th Richmond traveled to Atlanta with high hopes and a desire to capture the State Championship Trophy.

They came up with a 52-45 victory over Russell High in their first game of the class 2-AAA high school basketball tournament. Wayne Richards scored 14 points to be high man for the day.

In the second round in the Tournament, Richmond came through with a victory over Albany, 50-44.

Richmond came out on top again as they battled their way to the finals by a hard-fought win over Murphy High of Atlanta 56-54. This win entitled them to play Decatur.

The finale of the State Tournament in Atlanta, March 2, was a repetition, jinx or no jinx, of the final game of the Region Tournament here in Augusta, as Decatur's Bulldogs downed the Musketeers 61-51. Fouls called against Richmond in the last quarter largely accounted for the downfall, as Richmond led most of the way through the third quarter. Wayne Richards was high for Richmond, with 23 points, besides being high scorer for the Tournament.

Everybody agreed that it was the most exciting game of the season, and had nothing but praise for the whole team. Next year may be another story!

THE SHERIDAN SABRE

The Richard B. Sheridan Memorial Sabre is an award made annually by the Reserve Officers Association to the cadet officer of the ROTC unit who is judged to be the most outstanding student. In order for a cadet to win this award he must be a competent officer, a capable and versatile student, a proficient athlete and a leader in his class activities and every day life.

The Sabre is awarded in memory of Richard Brinsley Sheridan, honor graduate of the Academy, who lost his life in the football uniform of West Point. This year the Sabre was presented to Cadet Captain James A. Cook.

James A. Cook receives the Sabre from Captain William Bush while Sally Hill and M/Sgt. B. E. Carrow looks on.

NEW RICHMOND ACADEMY BUILDING

History of J. C. A. - A. R. C.

ment for use as a hospital; the school remained closed for several years. From August, 1863, until the fall of 1867, the Academy building was beyond the control of the Trustees. First used as headquarters for a Confederate military hospital, it was later used as military headquarters by the Federal troops before being restored to the Trustees in 1867.

For many years after its first opening, the Academy remained in session almost the whole year, with two-week holidays being given at the close of a quarter. Between April 1 and October 1, school hours lasted from seven-thirty to six; between October 1 and April 1, from eight-thirty to five. A recess from twelve to two-thirty was the only break in the schedule. This continued until 1880 when the single session, closing at two o'clock was introduced.

Public examinations were held from two to four times yearly, the first which were recorded being held on March 30, 1786, and another in July, 1789. During the examination, questions were asked by teachers, by the Trustees of Richmond Academy, or sometimes by people in the audience. Prizes were awarded for the exhibitions of oratory, declamation, and drama which followed the questioning. If all the students did well and if the Trustees were in a jovial mood, the students might be rewarded with a holiday of from one day to a whole week.

After the restoration of the Academy building to the Trustees in 1867, serious attempts were made to reopen the school. Colonel George W. Rains, former manager of the Confederate powder mill in Augusta, was chosen regent. His associates included a number of ex-Confederate officers, and with their aid the Academy was reopened January 1, 1868. In 1870, during a mass reorganization, the post of regent was abolished, all teachers became equal in rank, and Colonel Rains was appointed chairman of the faculty. The Academy had two departments: the classical and English and the scientific. The potential scientists had access to Colonel Rains' personal collection of scientific apparatus and that of the Medical College of Georgia, where Colonel Rains was a chemistry professor. The enrollment of the Academy grew steadily, and in the school year of 1873-1874 it listed 223 students. In 1875, a commercial department was added, and in 1882 a military department was established with Captain J. O. Clarke, a Confederate veteran, as instructor. A section of the Academy building was set aside as an armory, but after a few years of existence, the department was abolished. In 1898, the military department was reopened with Major George P. Butler as commandant. It consisted of two companies with uniforms of blue coats with brass buttons, gray trousers, black shoes, and blue forage caps, closely resembling the Confederate caps.

In the first two decades of the twentieth century, the Academy changed in many ways. Its curriculum enlarged to include athletics, physics, physiology, hygiene, American, English, and French history, mechanical drawing, and plane surveying. In 1904, the University of Georgia accredited the Academy, and in 1911 the Academy became a member of the Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools of the Southern States. On July 1, 1909, the Trustees contracted with the County Board of Education of Richmond County to employ and pay the teachers and manage the school, while the Trustees were to use the income derived from the tuition (approximately $5,000 a year) to improve and take care of the property and increase the equipment. In 1910, a fifth year, equal to the freshman year in college, was added, with the old armory being converted into classrooms to accommodate the additional students. In the year before World War I began, the Medical College building reverted to the Trustees and was converted into classrooms. By the end of 1916 there were varsity teams of football, baseball, basketball, tennis, and track, with a newly organized band added to the military department. After the first World War, tuition for students living in Richmond County was abolished.

In 1919, student enrollment had increased to 610, the largest up to that time. With such crowded conditions prevailing, more classrooms became a necessity. The dormitory was converted into classrooms, but the Academy was still overcrowded. In 1924, a bond issue of $350,000 was voted, $300,000 of which was designated for building a new Academy. The Trustees added $100,000 to the bond issue funds and work on the new Academy was begun. The selected site, a swamp owned by the city of Augusta, was located between Walton Way and Hampton Avenue and west of Baker Avenue. The City Council had the swamp drained; the County Commissioners had the ground made ready for construction; Scroggs and Ewing drew plans for the building; and the Palmer-Spivey Construction Company erected it, under the supervision of a building commission composed of prominent civic leaders.

During the summer of 1925, the Board of Education voted to found a coeducational junior college, to be called the Junior College of Augusta. It was to be housed in the new Academy building on the completion of that building. The Junior College graduated its first group of sophomores in 1927. Since that time the Junior College has grown steadily, with a variety of courses being offered to the students.

The Academy, too, has increased its enrollment rapidly. In its first year in the new building, the Academy had 645 students and a faculty of 33. In this school year of 1956-57, the Academy has an enrollment of 1074, and the Junior College has 203 students. The faculty consists of a president, a dean, fifty-three teachers, two librarians, a registrar, two office assistants, a nurse, a dietitian, business manager, a commandant, and four army officers and sergeants. This year of 1957 will see a senior class of approximately 470 members graduate from Richmond Academy and 45 from Junior College. Let us hope and pray that this class will uphold the traditions and glory of the one-hundred-and-seventy-four-year-old school.

A. R. C. Superlatives

"Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might."

—Ecclesiastes 9:10

VALEDICTORIAN BARBARA JEAN GRAHAM

The 1957 Rainbow wishes to acknowledge the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. Elroy Dupuis in lending their gracious home on Heard Avenue and of the management of the Bon Air Hotel for extending their hospitality for the superlative pictures.

THE FOUNDATION

True inspiration comes to me
When'er I see a red brick wall.
In it, a symbol of force, I see
Man's deeds both great and small.

On a firm foundation of brick and clay
The workmen must place each part.
Our lives we must build from day to day,
With strength of hand and heart.

A BIT ABOUT A BEE

The bumblebee, so big and fat,
He hardly knows just where he's at,
For when he tries to see his rear,
His wings, they always interfere.

His sound, I think, is rather buzzy,
His body is a little fuzzy,
His legs are short and rather bent,
Short also is his temperament.

THE CHAMPS

Richmond's gonna win the state
The cheerers' words proclaim
But if the boys don't make some points
Northside will win this game.

'Twas the tenth of November in seventy-eight
And Richmond determined to win
But still they didn't have quite enough points
And the game was about to end.

But Atkins and Goodwin and Smalley and Force
(Their fathers were men of great fame)
Were out there, and they were all fighting so hard
So Richmond could win tonight's game.

Then Evans came through with a great forward pass
That put Atkins over the line.
The fans were all cheering the football team on
Now we were no longer behind.

The referee sounded the end of the game.
The fellas had really done great.
And Frank Inman, Jr. had filled his Dad's shoes
Giving Richmond her thirtieth state!

THE HUNTER
 Casting about a sullen face,
 Was a friend of mine so dear,
 Till he met a young thing with frills of lace;
 Now he's overflowing with cheer.
 My fortune has not been so lucky as his,
 For nary a girl have I found,
 But the time'll come when I'll find bliss
 And it won't be with some old hound.

AND THERE WAS A LIGHT IN THE WINDOW

I woke up tired and weary. The first thing I noticed was a light in the window. An automobile was pulling up to the cabin. Was it the cops or my girl, Janie Lou? I loaded my revolver and slipped out of bed. The car had eased to a halt and I heard two doors slam. It was the cops! Somebody had squealed.

I hid behind the door as they came up on the porch. When they hustled through the door I emptied my revolver into them. That forty-five leaves some terrible holes! The only thing left to do was blow the place.

The super-highway was just four miles from the cabin and I made it in less than five minutes. The cop car would surely be recognized so I pulled into the No. 1 Drive In and borrowed a 57 Chevy. When I got to Broad Street it was already after midnight. I parked behind Kim Lea's Laundry and sprinted to the Richland Hotel.

Janie Lou's room was on the third floor and the moment I rang the bell the door opened. There stood Black Mike and five of his boys. Janie Lou's body lay on the rug riddled with bullets.

The paper says that Black Mike and his friends were caught leaving the hotel after they humped me off. They all have new homes in the Federal Pen in Atlanta.

It's getting sorta hot down here where I am, so guess I'll get back to work. Those asbestos newspapers don't come but twice a month anyway.

ODE TO ALGEBRA

In Algebra class the teacher raves
He's making students into slaves.
The subject is so very deep
My mind begins to slowly creep
And eyes stare into empty space
For in the mayhem and confusion
I've drawn myself a rare conclusion:
Tis useless in the first place.

A POINT OF VIEW

The paths run round and round the hills.
They never stop to see the view,
But if they, too, had eyes to see,
They'd see much more than I and you.
They'd drink in all the beauty that
God's made for us, for you, for me;
They'd not be proud that they are there,
But thankful that's where they can be.

Helen Kelley

THE STORM

Outside it's raining cats and dogs
But inside it's nice and warm.
With our glowing crackling logs,
I think we'll weather the storm.

The wind is getting much stronger
The shutters begin to creak
But we can stay awake no longer
So it's off for a restless sleep.

In the days when King Tut and his harem were learning the shag, and laying the pattern for the Casanovas to come, some serious minded intellectual of the ancients decided to place on record the virtues of building with clay. Even then, during the dawn of history, the durability of brick as manufactured by the industrious Israelites was well known.

In proof of this, we offer the inscription found on a tablet at Dasher, which is located a little south of Cairo, Egypt. This tablet is on one of the great pyramids of that region. It bears the following inscription:

"Disparage me not by comparing me with pyramids built of stone. I am as much superior to them as Ammon is superior to the rest of the deities. I am constructed of brick made from mud, which adhered to the ends of poles, and was drawn up from the bottom of the lake."

We admit that all of the above produces a fond glint in our eyes.

GOD'S WORK

I love to watch the sun rise over the ocean,
And feel its warmth on the sand
Upon which I stand,
And watch the expanding waves,
As they splash upon the sand;
And when the sun sets,
Like a ball of fire in the West,
I know that this is only a portion
Of God's wondrous work in motion.

AND THERE WAS A LIGHT IN THE WINDOW

At four-thirty A. M. a light came on in George Whitton's bedroom window. George had been awake for a long time, but when four-thirty came he could stand the excitement no longer. George had been waiting and planning for this day a long time. In one more hour Ben Royal, Jack Ware, and Lloyd Farr would come by for him and they would be off to Daytona to watch Speed Week.

Soon the light in George's mother's room came on, and George knew that breakfast would soon be ready. He went out on the front porch to get the paper. He brought it in and turned to the sports page to look for something about the Daytona Races. He could find nothing, and after he read all the basketball news, checked up on Beetle Bailey and Dick Tracy, he laid the paper down and went into the kitchen to eat breakfast.

After breakfast George's mother lit in with one of her lectures. He knew she was going to. She did every time he went somewhere out of town. She told him to be careful, drive slowly, and call home when he got to Daytona. George had heard that countless times before and agreed almost automatically. He wondered if Ben's mother gave him all that trouble.

George got his suitcase and sat it by the front door. About five twenty-five Mr. Whitton got up and came to see George. He started into the same lecture that Mrs. Whitton had just concluded but George stopped him by telling him he had just heard all that. Mrs. Whitton then asked George had he packed his tooth brush, raincoat, and numerous other things, all of which he had. When she suggested that George take his coat, George went into a long discussion about how silly he would look in Florida with a jacket on.

Finally his friends arrived. He kissed his mother and ran out to the car. It took George five minutes to get his suitcase in the trunk of Ben's car. When they were finally ready to leave, Lloyd Farr discovered that he had left his watch at home. George accompanied Lloyd back inside to call his mother about it. Just as Lloyd put up the phone, he found the watch in his pocket where he had put it when he washed his hands. On the way out, George kissed his mother goodbye, again.

When they were finally gone, George looked back at his house one more time. He had left the light in his bedroom burning.

THE PIONEER

Men of old were forced to use,
broken down wagons and faulty tools.
The labor to clear and till his land was supplied by the family of each man.
His house was built of rough, green logs and held together with mud from bogs.
His constant companion was powder and gun
And when these failed, to God he'd run.
So went the life of a pioneer.

Frank Guthrie

THE CALL

The moon was waning in the sky.
The drowsy world slept on;
A lonely horseman galloped by
To run before the dawn.
His horse was black and flecked with foam,
His eyes were dull and grey;
The country doctor hurried home.
After a long night's stay.
